

Why your money matters

ASTHMA+
LUNG UK

£14 could fund an hour of research, giving hope to those who struggle to breathe.

£22 allows one of our respiratory nurses to support someone on our helpline, offering potentially lifesaving advice.

£60 could pay for five school air pollution monitors, collecting air quality data that can bring about change.

£100 could fund a day of vital research, helping to improve the care and treatment of people with lung conditions.

£125 could provide researchers with equipment to grow cells linked to lung conditions, crucial for developing better and gentler treatments.

£640 could fund a Support Group for one year, bringing people with a lung condition together.

£1000 could fund a research technician to perform two weeks of research, taking us one step closer to a world without lung disease.
